SUMMARY

Full Stack Web Developer with a background in personal training, sales, and customer service. I am skilled on both the front-end and back-end of development but I definitely enjoy the back-end technologies much more. I have strong problem-solving skills and communicate well within a team as I am open-minded to all ideas and solutions. I'm constantly seeking ways to improve myself and thinking of how to be helpful to those around me. You will get a person with an eagerness to learn and willingness to try new things. I will always give you an honest effort to put forth the best quality product possible.
